Email Campaign: Nordic Edge Two Factor Authentication

Here's a startling statistic we ran across, but the results are based on decades of solid research.

Twenty-five to thirty percent of your employees will always steal from you if given the opportunity. Not just paper clips and Sharpies, but real theft. Convenience store workers, stockbrokers, nurses, receptionists and yes, software programmers.

Here's how it breaks down:

- 25% will always steal.
- 50% will not ordinarily steal unless they are under financial pressure, e.g., gambling addiction.
- 25% will never steal.

But, notice the important qualifier: "if given the opportunity." That's why companies need to be very vigilant that they minimize risk across their SAP landscape. For example, it is not really very hard for ABAP programmers to intentionally inject code vulnerabilities they or others could later exploit.

For an example of risky code, click here.

At Adventier, we are totally committed to helping companies mitigate and minimize their SAP vulnerabilities. Please contact us to learn more.
